Biography

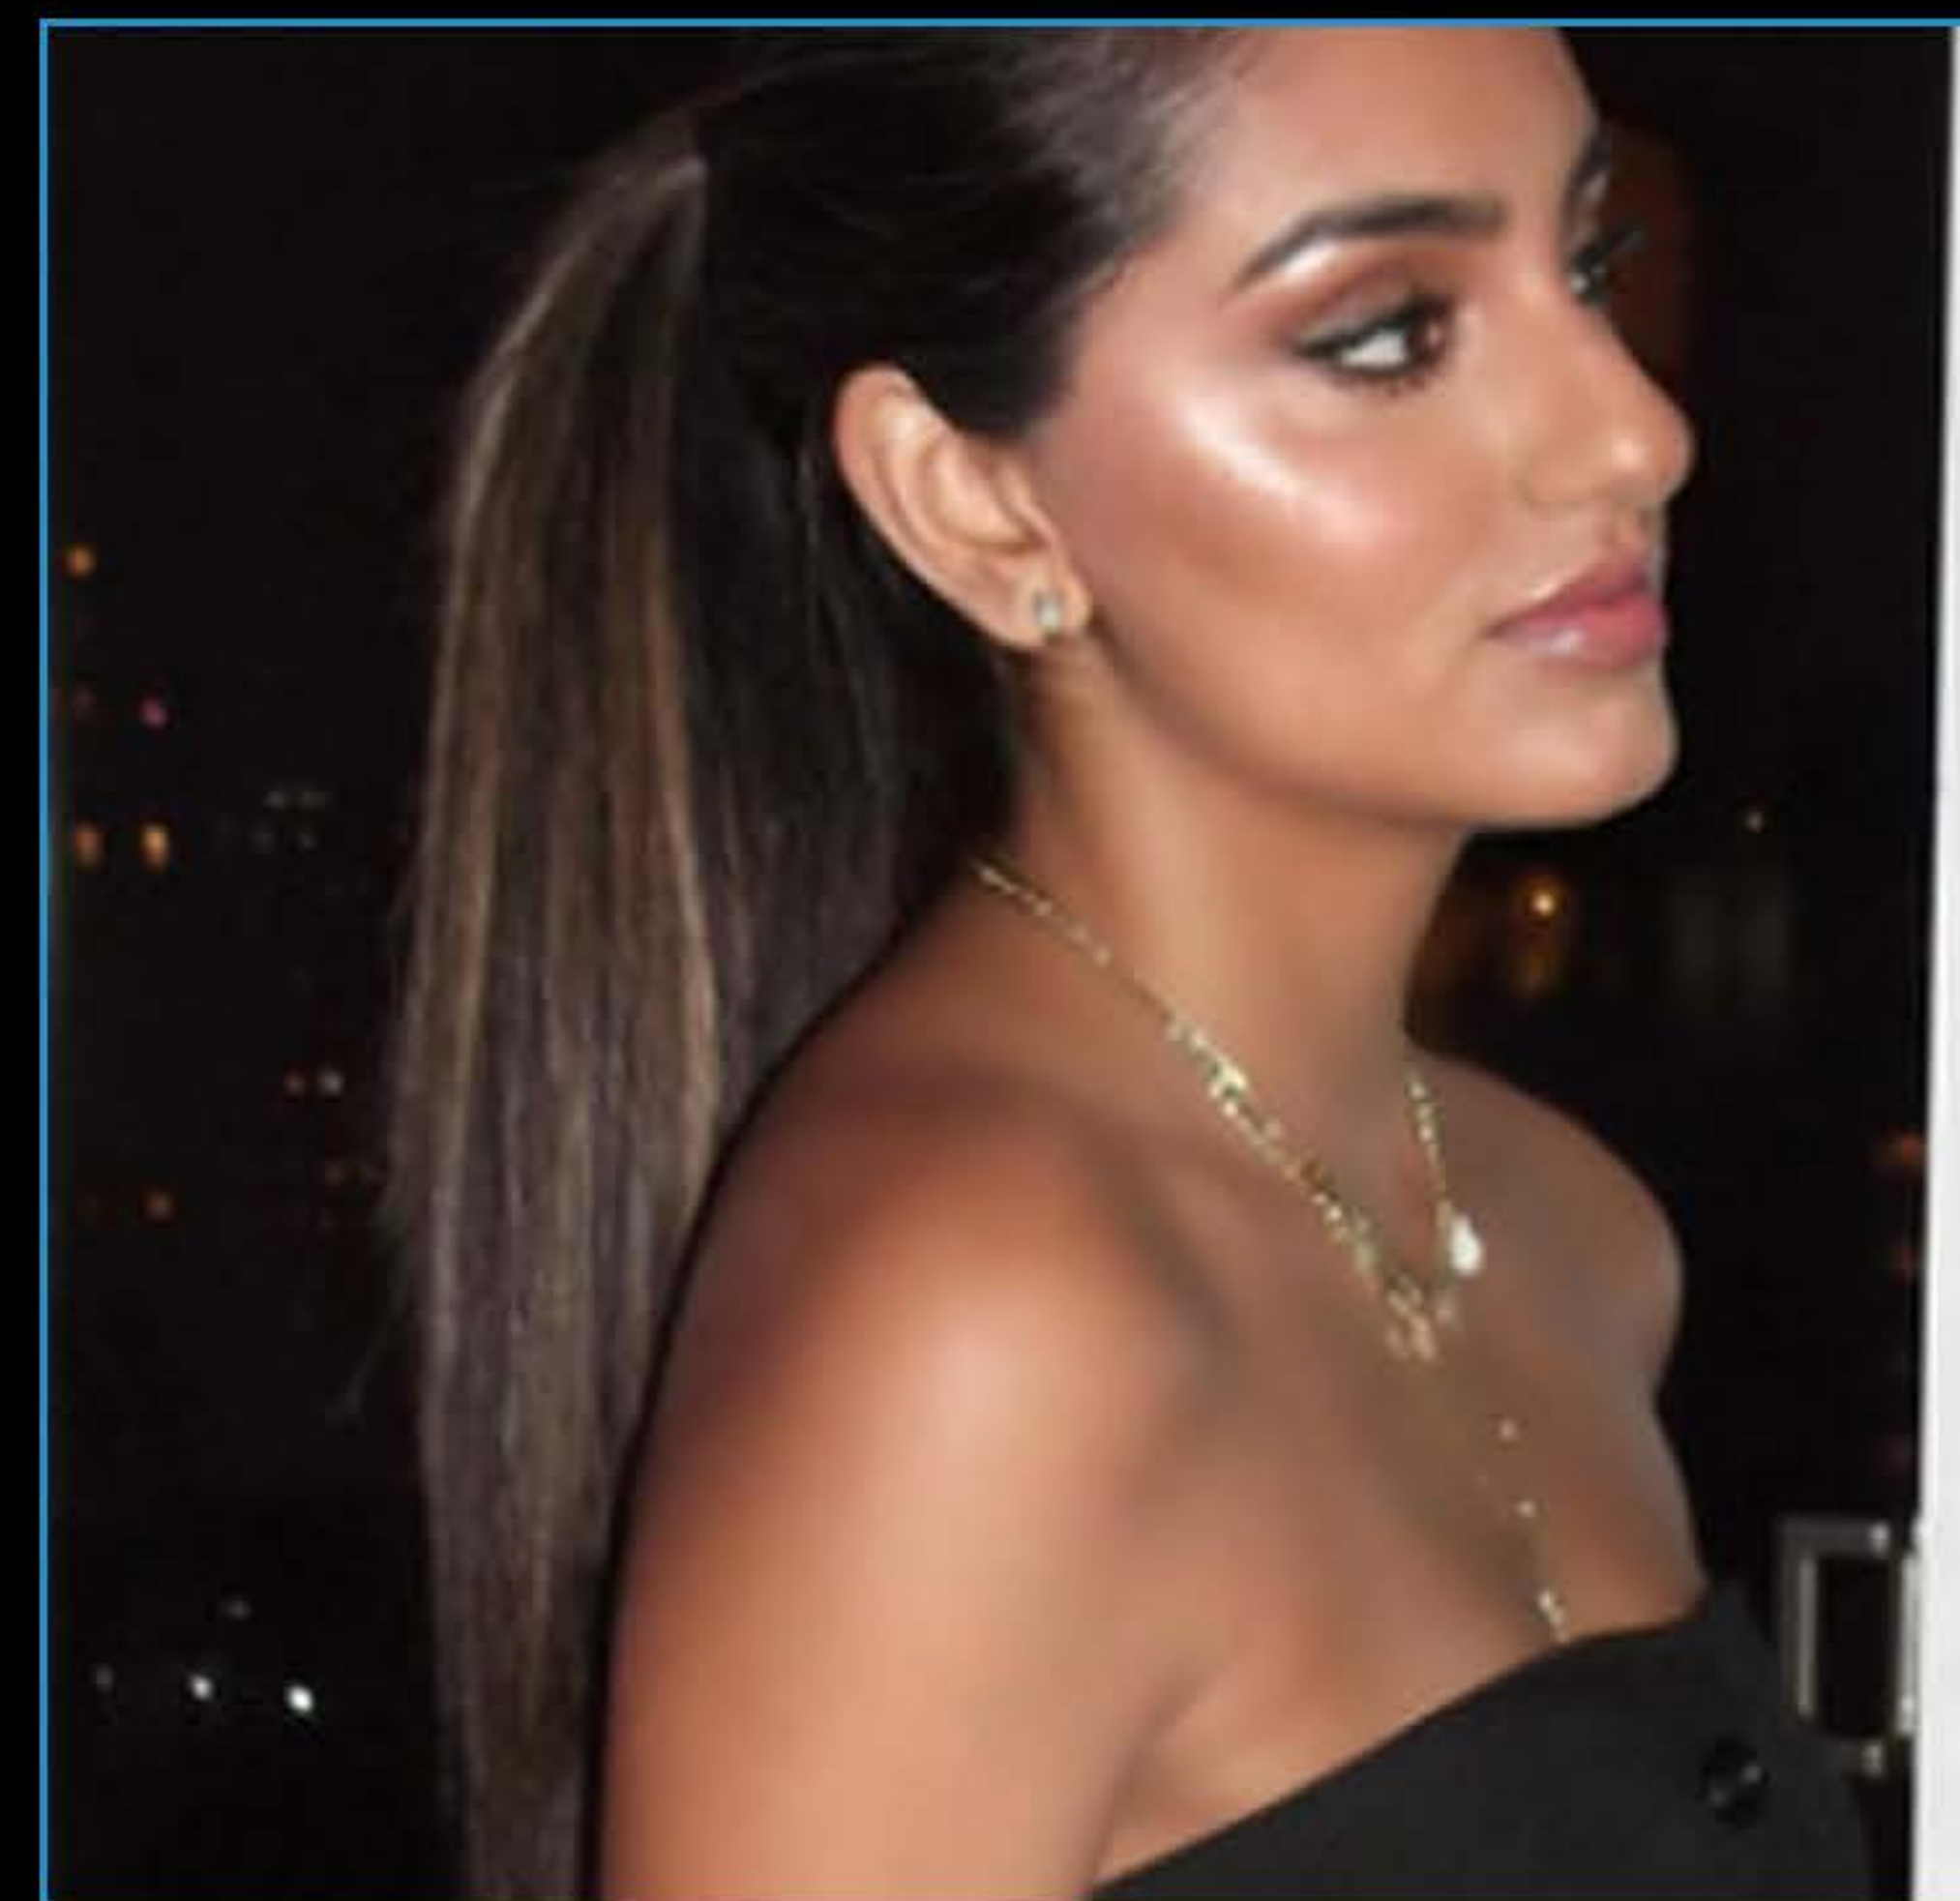

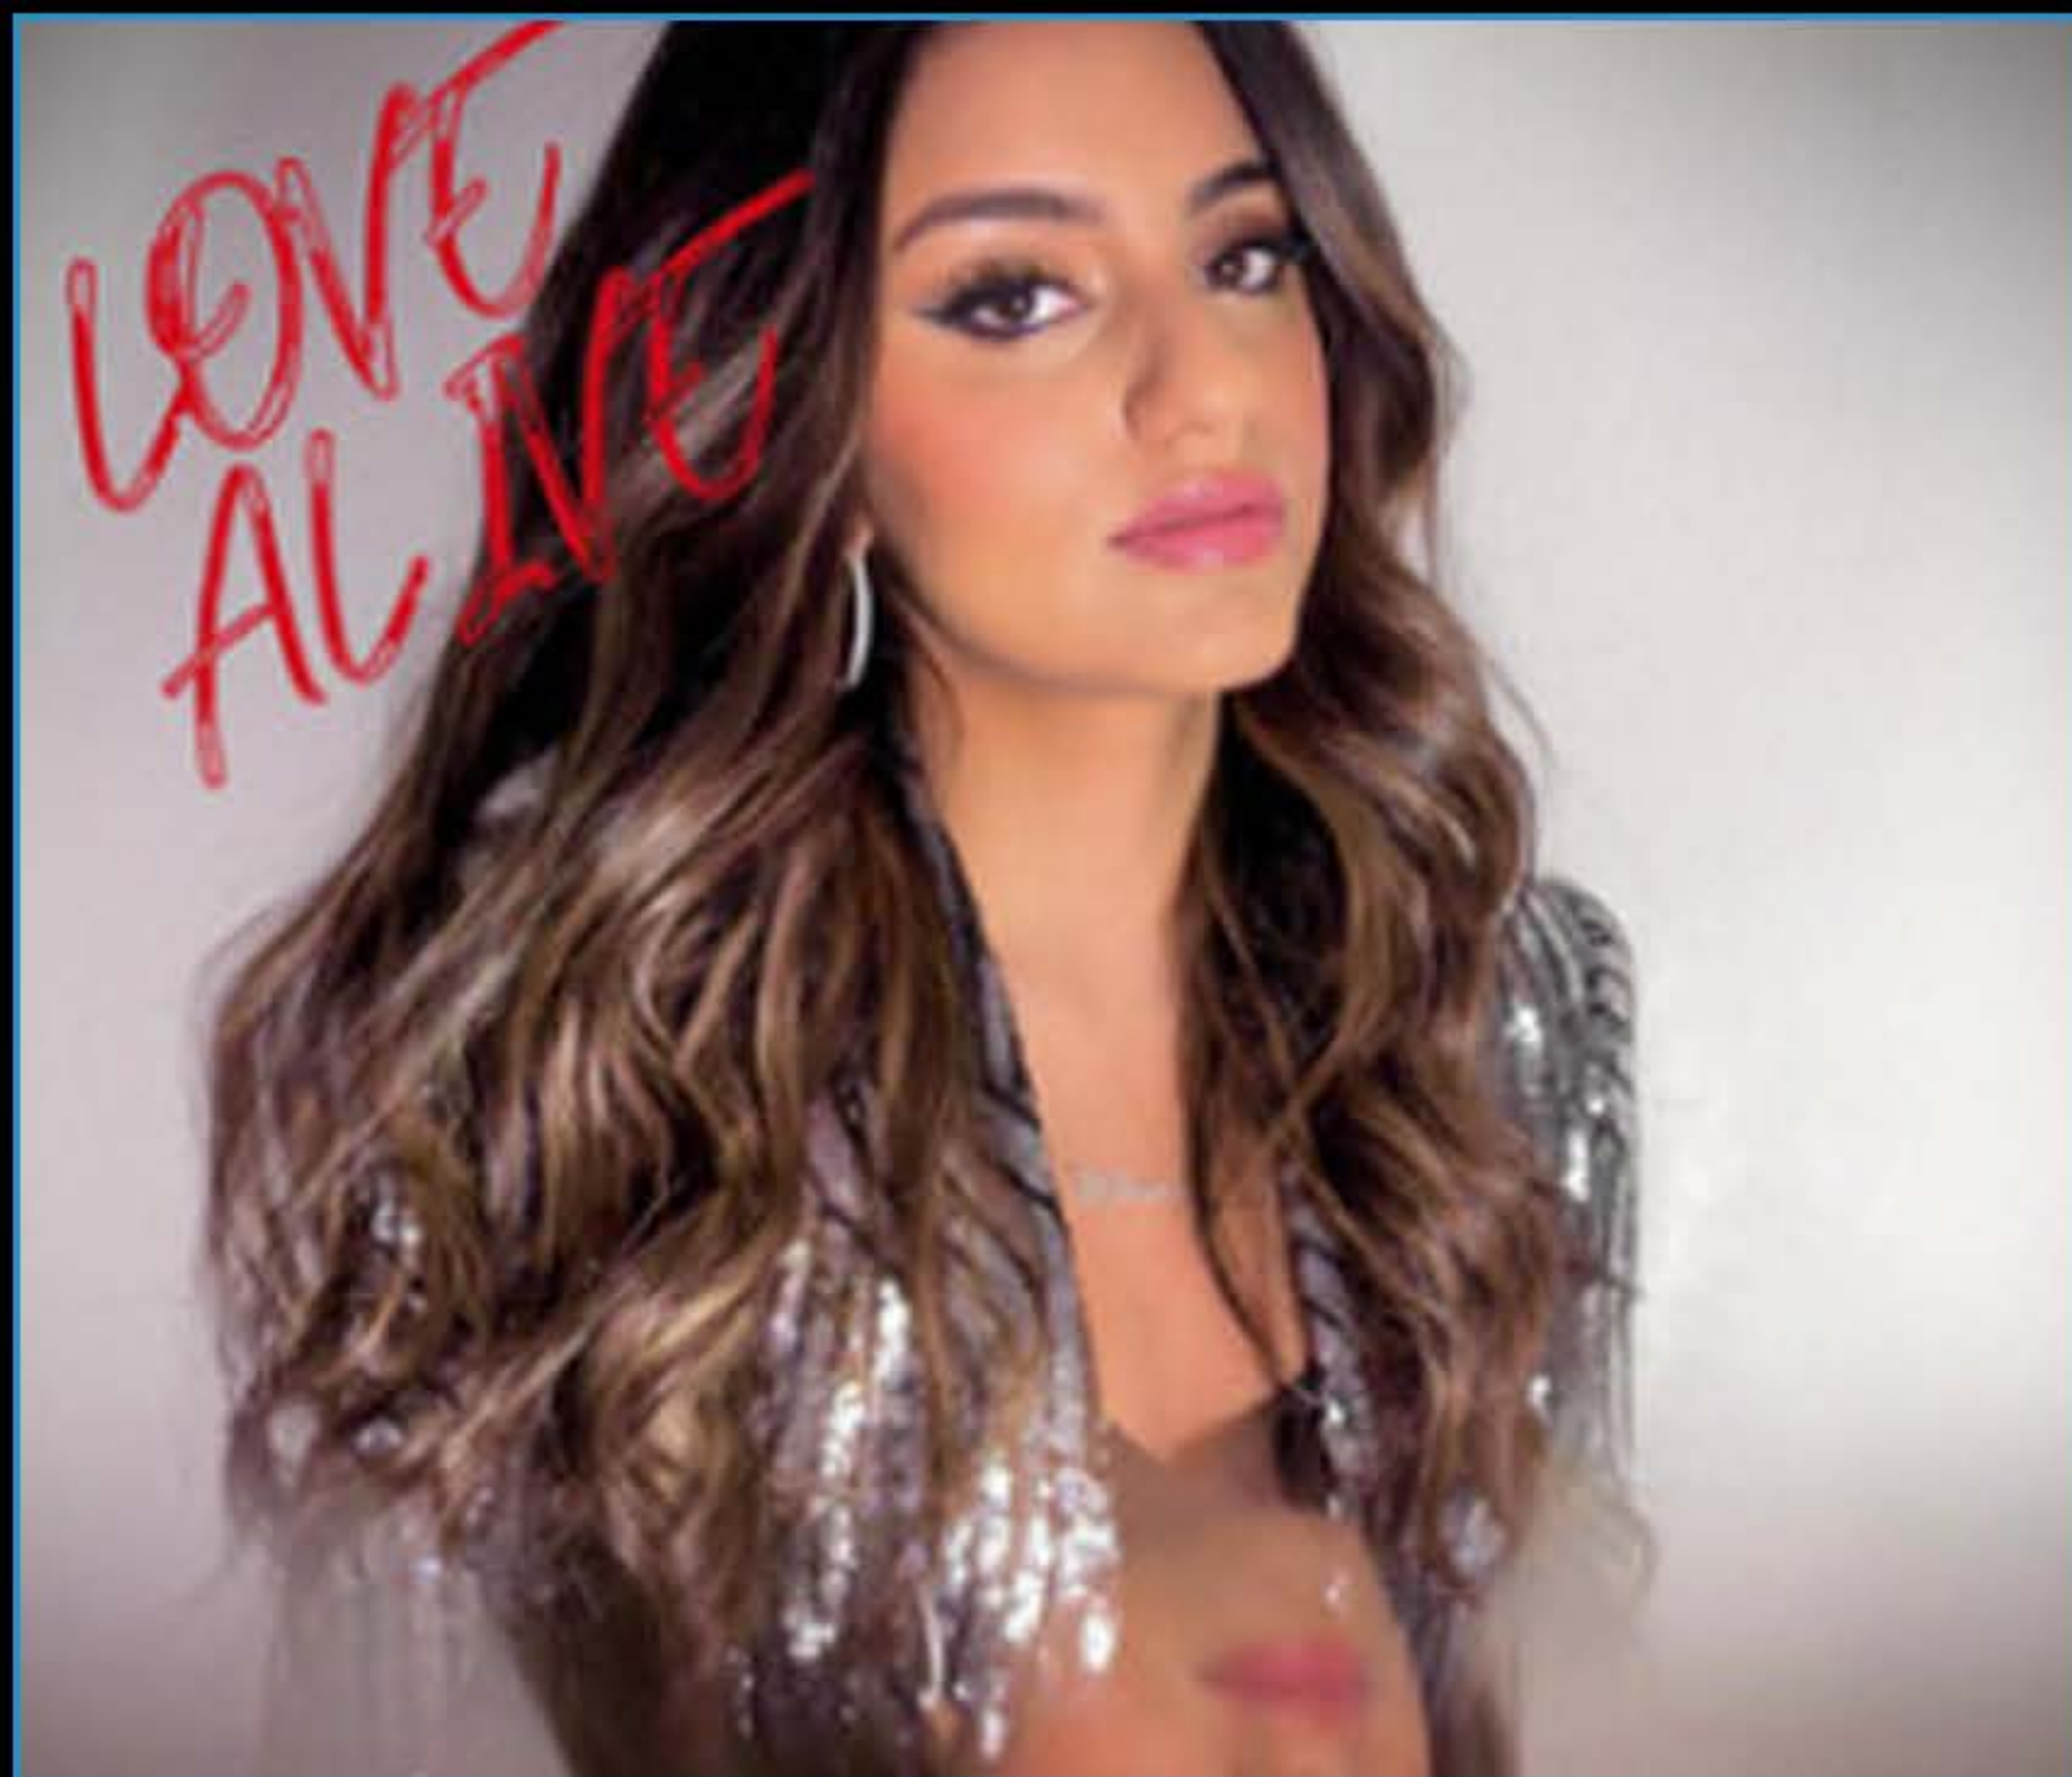

Karisna is a 22-year-old singer-songwriter, born and raised in Hong Kong before relocating to New York City. A recent graduate of the acclaimed Clive Davis Institute at NYU, she brings a globally informed perspective to her genre-blending sound — fusing pop, R&B, house, and country influences into music that’s emotionally rich and sonically bold.

Her songs thrive on emotional contrast — often beginning in vulnerability and building toward strength. With cinematic production, intimate storytelling, and explosive vocals, Karisna crafts tracks that feel like turning points in a coming-of-age film. Whether she’s delivering a quiet confession or a powerhouse chorus, her music invites listeners into a space of clarity, catharsis, and release.

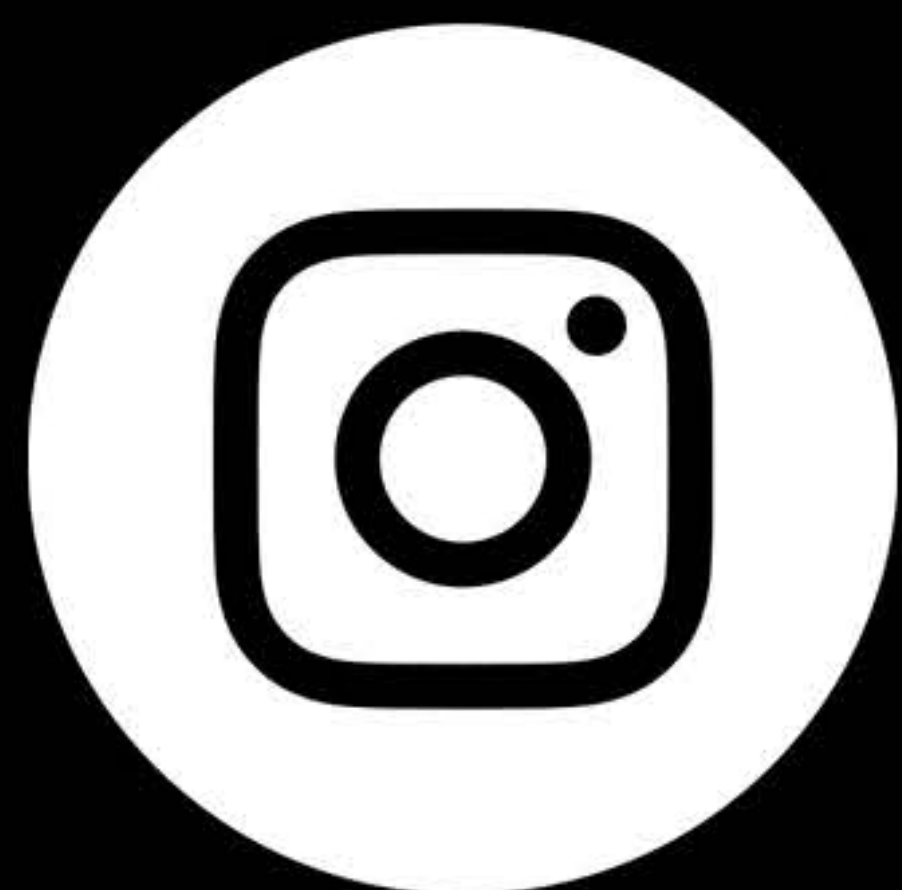

Her singles “Love Alive” and “Down Bad” earned playlist placements on Spotify’s R&B Late Night Drive, while her house-inspired track “Often” was featured on Black Coffee’s official playlist and gained support across the house scene — a testament to her versatility and cross-genre appeal.

For those navigating love, loss, growth, or just looking to feel something real, Karisna’s music offers the perfect balance of glamour, grit, and emotional truth.
